INTANGIBLE TAX HIT BY COMMISSIONERS

Amend Sterling Bill to Exempt Mortgages or Deeds of Trust on Realty, They Ask.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS

Would Relieve Banks of Double Assesment on Mortgages and Bonds.

With the recommendation that it be amended to provide that mortgages deeds of trust on real estate in the District shall not be liable to any tax under the provisions of the act, the Commissioners sent to Congress today a report on the Sterling bill for the assessment of intangible property.

Such taxes, the Commissioners say, ultimately bear upon the borrower and are a burden to buyers of small

Other Changes Urged. They recommend also that the bill be amended to provide that banks liable to tax on earnings and capital stock shall not be required to make any report or pay any further tax on mortgages, bonds, and securities owned by them.

Concerning the justice of an in tangible tax they say that experts on taxation are agreed generally as to the impossibility of a fair equalization and thorough collection of such s

The Sterling bill is designed to supersede the present law for the sessment of intangible property. Commissioners' Report.

Following is the Commisioners' re-

"The personal tax law of July 1 1902, taxing banks and trust companies 6 per centum on their gross earnings, which is greater than a similar tax in most States, and also greater than the tax here on public utilities, would seem to be sufficient without a tax on bank balances and Individual holdings of stock.

"This act further taxed public service and quasi public service corpora-tions in an amount high enough to make it unneccessary to tax individual holders of stock.

The tax on mortgages and deeds of trust on real estate ultimately bears upon the borrower, and is a burden to those buying small homes. Taxes on loans can be and are easily shifted to the borrower, with the result that the mortgagor pays on both the real estate and the mortgage. The Commis-sioners believe that there is even bet on for the exemption of mort gages than for the exemption of bank

"Concerning the justice of a tax on intangible personal property, it may be said that experts on taxation are generally agreed as to the impossibil ity of a fair equalization and a thorought collections a tax. "In addition to this it may be said that revenue by such a method is not needed as it can be raised with greater equity in other directions.

oming to still more recent experiences, it is interesting to note the fact that after years of honest at-tempts to tax intangible personal property, the State of Masachusetts, ticular form of taxation and substi-tuted in lieu thereof a State tax upon incomes based on the lines of the Federal income tax, at the same time retaining the tax upon general property and tangible personal pro tions, so as to avoid the feature of double taxation of any class or classes of property. * * *
"Inasmuch as the bill under consideration provides for a committee to columbia, the Commissioners only recommend at this time that the most objectionable features in the bill be eliminated, which may be accomplished by the following changes: Insert in line 9, page 2, before the word 'corporation,' the words 'banks and;' and insert at the end of line 18, page 2, the words 'and provided further that all mortgages or deeds of trus on real estate in the District of Co big shall not be liable to

Among the entente diplomats here the prevailing idea is that the Presi-dent will seek, if he has not already sought, a more explicit response from Germany to his request of the bel-ligerents for a statement of peace If any action is to be taken at all it is believed that the President will take it some time this week. It is assumed that Ambassador Gerard has already been busy at Berlin sounding the German government, and that the President will base his decision large baseador reports. The hope expresses most generally among the entent diplomats here is that the Presiden will let the matter drop. Raieigh.

Should Germany consent to publish list of terms, it is believed in dipiomatic quarters that they will be even more rigorous than were indicated by the German embassy at the time that the German Governmen first extended its overtures. In other words, it is thought, the Berlin Gov ernment would have to take into con by the radical elements in Germany by the radical elements in Germany over the sweeping character of the entente terms. To do less, it is pointed out, would be a confession of weakness before the German people out of all proportion to the military strength that the Kaiser is claiming. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, it is be-lieved, would prefer to put out his terms in secret, particularly if he en-tertains any real hope that the newotertains any real hope that the nego-tiations can be prolonged. And that he earnestly desires to continue the negotiations is regarded in entente quarters here as probable despite the expressed willingness of other offi-cials of the German government, in-cluding the Kaiser, to have the war

Position Is Fortunate.

As the entente diplomats in Wash ington se it, the German chancelor must realize that Germany will never be in as good a position as it now is, be in as good a position as it now is, from a military standpoint, to discuss peace. Unfortunately for him, however, he has a divided public opinion facing him. On the one hand there has been the widespread wish of a large element of the public for peace—for peace at almost any price that will enable Germany to retain what she had at the outset of the war. On the other hand there has been an active radical element at work, headed by such men as Reventiow and ed by such men as Reventiow and the leaders of the military caste, de-manding that the war be prosecuted with every available weapon until

Germany can force her enemies to give such terms as will repay the nation for its tremendous sacrifices. Invites Revention Element,

It is conceded in entente quarters ere that the terms announced by Great Britain and her allies in their note to the President have probably served to give the Reventlow elemen in Germany the upper hand. They are willing that this should be so, fo the entente diplomats frankly admit that they odn't want peace to co ably reversed, and they believe the von Bethmann-Hollweg believes

Consequently they look to see the German chancellor seek to continue the negotiations by secret methods using the argument with the Kaise that if peace could be made now an on the basis of her present military position she would be in position to await a more favorable opportunity in the future to fulfill the Hohensollern ideal of a Germany hegemony ove

Likewise, the German chancellor would be expected to argue, the adop-tion of secret methods in conducting the negotiations would enable him to ontinue his efforts to woo one or ore of his enemies at the expense of the others.

Dissension Aroused. In this connection it was recalled today that the terms which were obtained from German Embassy quarters at the time the Berlin peace overtures were first made-which terms were printed at the time in The Times were such as to stir up dissension among the ailies. That they did not, it is admitted in entente circles, was largely to the prompt work of Lloyd-George in bringing the various powers allied with Great Britain into

Realizing the absolute necessity of holding the allies together, it is regarded as likely that the British government would discourage any secret exchanges, particularly as her present desire is not to bring about peace, but to devote her energy and that of her allies toward bringing about a change in the military situation.

"I have suffered with my kidneys and rheumatism for the past twenty years and never got any medicine to give me permanent relief until I started to take your Plant Juice. I had terrible pains all through my arms and limba, and was so bad that if I would bend over, it would be a few minutes before I could straighten up again. I could not sleep at night because of the pain I suffered, and got very weak and completely run down. Nothing gave me relief until I took your Plant Juice, and now I am glad to say that it has put me on my feet again; I sleep well and am feeling the best I have in years. Two bottles 'did the work' for me, and I can truthfully say that it was the best two dollars that I ever spent in my life. I am glad to give this endorsement for Plant Juice for it was the only medicine that releved me."
